

DIARY NOTES

Executive Director-Comptroller

17 December 1965

I addressed the Armed Forces Staff College today on the role of CIA in Government. I think the talk went over reasonably well. Admiral Daspit hosted a luncheon for me and invited the four CIA students at the College ([redacted])

[redacted] During the luncheon Admiral Daspit was highly complimentary of the performance of the CIA students and said that he would be glad to have more CIA students of the same caliber. He went on to say that, while he could not issue the invitation, he thought he could ensure that the Joint Chiefs of Staff would be receptive to any request we might make for additional slots. (I talked to Dick Helms briefly about this, and we agreed that four students for each course are probably enough for us to send to this particular College.)
